CASE NO. C19-5905 MJP

ORDER

21
22 //

23 //

24 //

1 This matter comes before the Court on Plaintiff’s Motion to Remand (Dkt. No. 16).
2 Having read the Motion, the Response (Dkt. No. 22), and the Reply (Dkt. No. 23), the Court
3 GRANTS Plaintiff’s Motion.

4 Background

5 Plaintiff, a citizen and resident of Mexico, had a romantic relationship with Defendant,
6 who is a United States citizen and resides in King County, Washington. (Dkt. No. 1, Ex. 1
7 (“FAC”), ¶¶ 1.1-1.2, 2.1.) Plaintiff claims that Defendant convinced him to buy two parcels of 8 real property—one in King County, one in Pierce County—by making a number of 9 misrepresentations, including that she was a licensed real estate agent at the time. (Id., ¶ 2.4.)
10 On June 27, 2019, Plaintiff filed a complaint in King County Superior Court, and an amended
11 complaint on July 29, 2019, alleging causes of action for partition, fraud and misrepresentation,
12 negligent misrepresentation, the tort of outrage, quiet title, and declaratory judgment. (Dkt. No.
13 17, Declaration of Carlos Sosa (“Sosa Decl.”), Ex. 3; FAC.) On September 9, 2019, Defendant
14 answered Plaintiff’s amended complaint and asserted her own counterclaims. (Dkt. No. 1, ¶ 1.)
15 The following day, on September 10, 2019, Plaintiff filed a lis pendens, asserting ownership over
16 the real property that is the subject of the underlying claims. (Sosa Decl., Ex. 5.) Defendant
17 then removed the action to this Court based on diversity jurisdiction, filing separate actions for 18 each property, under case numbers C19-1443 MJP and C19-5905 MJP. Plaintiff has now moved 19 to remand the cases to King County Superior Court.

20 Discussion

21 I. Plaintiff’s Motion to Remand

22 Plaintiff argues the Court lacks subject matter jurisdiction and that removal was untimely.
23 (Dkt. No. 16.) Plaintiff is also seeking attorney fees and costs. (Id. at 9-10.) The removal
24

1 statute is strictly construed against removal jurisdiction, and the “strong presumption” against
2 removal jurisdiction means that the defendant always has the burden of establishing that removal
3 is proper. Gaus v. Miles, Inc., 980 F.2d 564, 566 (9th Cir. 1992) (citations omitted).

4 A. Removal

5 1. Subject matter jurisdiction

6 Plaintiff first argues that the Court lacks subject matter jurisdiction because the prior 7 exclusive jurisdiction doctrine bars this Court from exercising jurisdiction over the properties at 8 issue when the Superior Court has already exercised jurisdiction over the same properties. (Dkt.
9 No. 16 at 7.) But “[t]he doctrine of prior exclusive jurisdiction applies to a federal court’s
10 jurisdiction over property only if a state court . . . retains [] jurisdiction in a separate, concurrent
11 proceeding.” Sexton v. NDEX W., LLC, 713 F.3d 533, 537 (9th Cir. 2013) (emphasis added).

12 The Superior Court has not done so here. 28 U.S.C. § 1446(d) (“after the filing of [a] notice of 13 removal . . . the State court shall proceed no further unless and until the case is remanded.”).

14 Because Plaintiff has not identified any concurrent proceeding with jurisdiction over the 15 properties, the Court finds that the prior exclusive jurisdiction doctrine does not apply here.

16 2. Timeliness

17 Plaintiff also argues that removal was untimely, occurring 74 days after service of the 18 original complaint and 43 days after service of the amended complaint. (Dkt. No. 16 at 8 (citing 19 Sosa Decl., Ex. Nos. 4, 6).) The Court agrees. Federal law requires removal to be made within 20 30 days of receipt of an initial pleading “setting forth the claim for relief upon which such action
21 or proceeding is based.” 28 U.S.C. § 1446(b). If the action is not removable based on the initial 22 pleadings, the removal is proper if commenced within “thirty days after receipt by the defendant

1 . . . of a copy of an amended pleading, motion, order or other pleading from which it may first be
2 ascertained that the case is one which is or has become removable.” Id.

3 The original complaint asserted claims for partition and quiet title over two properties,
4 described in the complaint as collectively worth $199,000.00 (Sosa Decl., Ex. 3, ¶¶2.5 2.6), but
5 Defendant claims it was not until she received the lis pendens—which did not list the price of the 6 properties at all—that she realized Plaintiff “claimed ownership of the entirety of the King
7 County properties” and understood that the controversy concerned “a property worth more than 8 $75,000.” (Dkt. No. 22 at 2, 4.) The lis pendens was clearly not Defendant’s first opportunity to 9 ascertain that this matter was removable, 28 U.S.C. § 1446(b), as the original complaint
10 contained all the information (and more) that Defendant now claims was only apparent from the 11 lis pendens. Removal was therefore untimely, and Plaintiff’s Motion for Remand is GRANTED.

12 B. Attorney Fees

13 Plaintiff seeks an award of attorney’s fees pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1447(c). (Dkt. No.
14 17.) “[A]bsent unusual circumstances, attorney’s fees should not be awarded when the removing 15 party has an objectively reasonable basis for removal.” Martin v. Franklin Capital Corp., 546
16 U.S. 132, 136 (2005). “Conversely, when an objectively reasonable basis exists, fees should be
17 denied.” Id. “[R]emoval is not objectively unreasonable solely because the removing party’s 18 arguments lack merit, or else attorney’s fees would always be awarded whenever remand is 19 granted.” Lussier v. Dollar Tree Stores, Inc., 518 F.3d 1062, 1065 (9th Cir. 2008).

20 As discussed above, the Court finds Defendant’s argument regarding the timing of 21 removal unpersuasive. But the amount in controversy and diversity of the parties satisfy the 22 diversity statute (see Sosa Decl., Ex. 3, ¶¶2.5 2.6), and Defendant therefore had a reasonable
23 ground for removal, if not a timely one. Plaintiff’s Motion for Attorney’s Fees is DENIED.

1 Conclusion

2 For the foregoing reasons, the Court GRANTS Plaintiff's Motion for Remand and
3 REMANDS this case to King County Superior Court for all further proceedings. Plaintiff's
4 request for attorney's fees is DENIED.

6 The clerk is ordered to provide copies of this order to all counsel.

7 Dated November 14, 2019.
